Nicolas Consulting was instructed to put together a team of sub consultants to assist in the preparation of a detailed inspection and written report which included every component in this significantly large building (around 250k square feet). The report was then used to inform a costed maintenance plan. The challenge was the sheer size of the building that meant having to co-ordinate a large professional team around a complex and extensive building layout itself. We completed this project with minimal impact on the day to day running and operations of the Brighton Centre, which surpassed our clients' expectations. Our role included giving a formal presentation to Brighton Council after the submission of the report to summarise the findings of our survey.
